UTAS: HOW DID YOU COME TO THE DESIGN TO RETIRE? NO WHY IS THIS THE RIGHT TIME?

BIONDI: Down deep in my soul, I always knew I wouldn't be the SLU president forever. I'm 74 years old, and as I begin my 27th year as president of SLU, I feel it's the right time. I traveled to Southeast Asia this past March to visit our alumni, benefactors, prospective parents and to meet with students who are considering attending SLU. During that trip I had time to re ect on my personal and professional life at SLU and on the future.

When encountering this, I would advise my younger self not the spective terans of our armed forces too distracted by this attitude because, in fact, most faculty and divictims of domestic violence. sta don't feel this way and do realize that they are accountables for orts and so many others their words and actions when teaching, conducting researchement our local community and doing their jobs.

bene tour students, who learn so much from one another by help ing others.

THERE'S NO INSTRUCTION MANUAL FOR BEING A UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT. HOW DID YOU LEARN TO DO IT?

I had a great predecessor, Father Tom Fitzgerald, S.J., who really YOUR AVORITE primed SLU for the future. He o ered me very good advice. I AFRO RY AS RESIDENT? had the good fortune to work with SLU's former president Father Paul Reinert, S.J., who had amazing institutional knowledge.

And, honestly, I learned a lot by just doing the job. Also import ant are self-re ection, prayer, instinct, openness to ideas and timely decision-making. Our excellent trustees, a strong executive sta of vice presidents, deans and managers, and other key leaders, helped set an example that I hope will continue.

WHAT'S THE EST THING THAT'S HAPENED DURING YOUR TENURE?

at has to be our increased enrollment. When I started, we had about 9,500 students; today we have almost 14,000 students with excellent academic credentials. We o er an outstanding Jesuit edu cation, so the more people who can bene t from our mission and vision, the better. And I believe the more SLU alumni there are, the better our world will be. A er all, aren't we forming, informing and transforming our students to be good citizens and e ective leaders worldwide?

WHAT ARE YOU MOST ROUD OF?

I'm most proud of SLU's emphasis on service. It has always been our tradition as part of our Jesuit mission to prepare men and women for others, but thanks to the tireless energy of our students and key leaders around campus, service now is truly embedded in the SLU experience. We have so many initiatives — like Casa de Salud, which o ers health assistance to undocumented immi grants; the medical school's student-run Jesuit Health Resource Center, which provides medical care to needy residents of North St. Louis; and our legal clinics, which serve the region's home
