Saint Louis University is a public, Catholic institution. We accept courses from a wide variety of disciplines into our degree programs. Visit our profile with Transferology at transferology.com to explore how your credits will transfer.

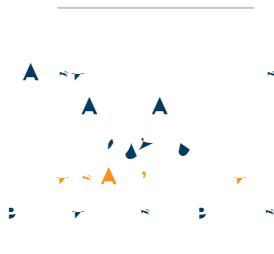

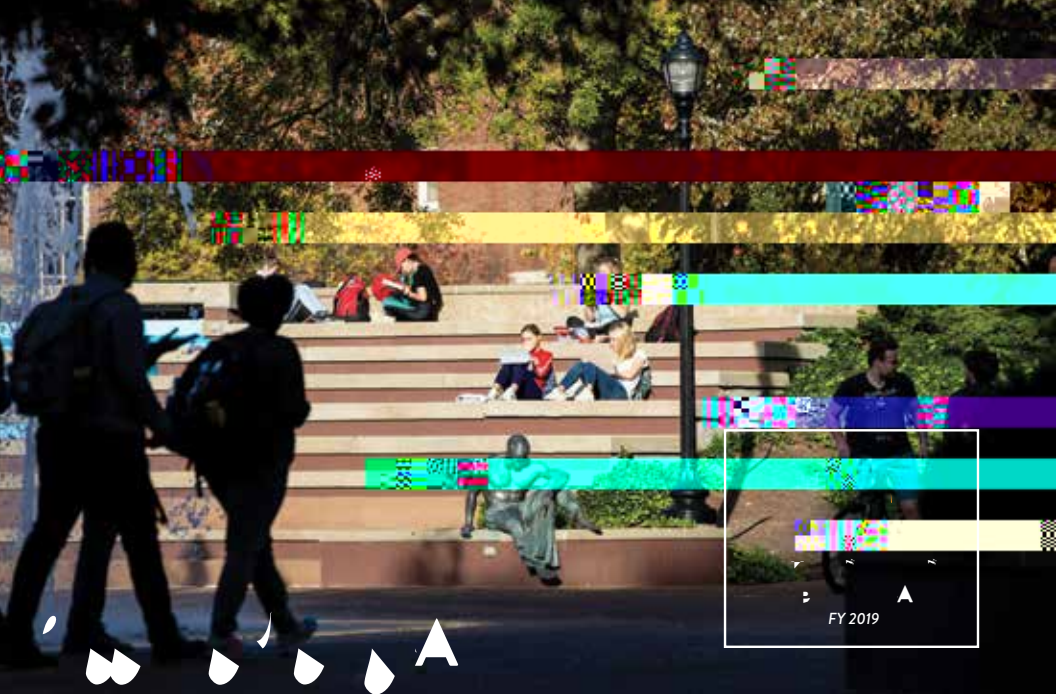

Discover how the exams you've taken (including AP Credit, CLEP, and International Baccalaureate) may award credit to Saint Louis University.

SLU has dedicated transfer admission counselors to ensure you have a seamless transition. Your transfer admission counselor will help you throughout the application process and serve as your best resource. Contact us at transfer@slu.edu or 617.338.3333 and ask to speak with a transfer admission counselor.

We understand the unique needs of transfer students, and we want you to make the most of your time on campus. Visit SLU on your own schedule and let us know what's most important to you — we'll make sure you get all your questions answered! You could meet with a transfer admission counselor, academic department or student services representative; attend an information session; or take a walking tour of campus with a current student.

We offer a wealth of programs to recognize academic performance and ensure no student who belongs here will be kept away by cost. Invest in your future.

The FAFSA priority deadline for summer and fall applicants is Feb. 1 and Nov. 1 for spring applicants.

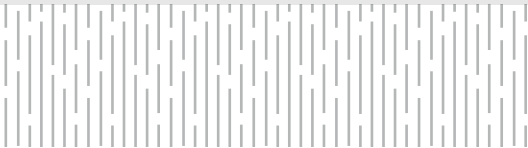

Housing is available to transfer students who wish to live on campus. SLU has a residency requirement for freshman- and sophomore-level students. Students who live within a 25-mile radius of campus may be eligible for an exemption to the housing requirement. See Residency Requirements for more information about our seven residence halls and four apartment complexes.

The cumulative GPA calculated by the University (which may not correspond with the cumulative GPA that appears on an individual transcript) is used in both admission and scholarship review.

In general, all completed college course grades are used by the University to compute your cumulative GPA. Courses with a grade below a C and courses from institutions that do not meet the University's accreditation requirements will not transfer for credit to Saint Louis University but will be included in the computation of your cumulative GPA.
